Swinging along at his wouted stride and reaching s point within half a mile of his desti nation, his attention was attracted by parrows, hovering down over the side-walk, flying hither and thither in great excitement. As he approached them, and when in their midst, they evinced no fear of his presence, and, instead of flying away on his entrance among them, they pressed around him in great numbers, and almost immediately attacked him with their sharp bills with great him with their sharp bits with great fury. At first he was disposed to treat the attack as a trivial matter, and at-tempted to brash them away with his hands, but the few thus displaced were immediately replaced by myrisds more, chattering and piercing him with their small bills, like "the flight of a cloud of

The immense numbers and persistent charge were so great that he was soor thrown to the ground. Now thoroughly alarmed, he struggled to his feet. Cov-ering his eyes and face with one hand as well as possible, he endeavored with the other hand to wrest from the fence at his side a stake or picket with which to defend himself, but not succeeding, and the wild and infuriated little warriors still increasing their attack, he was forced to fight them again with his hands, when again he was thrown to the ground. Now really terrified for his he pulled his coat over his face and head for protection, regained his feet and fied for his life, but they did not pursue him far. Exhausted and with his hands bleeding, he reached the village, convinced that he had had a narrov

Ancient Wonders. Nineveh was forteen miles long, eight miles wide, and forty-aix miles around, with a wall one hundred feet high and thick enough for three chariots abreast Babylon was fifty miles within the walls which were seventy-five feet thick and one hundred feet high, with one hun-dred brazen gates. The temple of Diana, at Ebbesus, was four hundred and twenty at Ephesus, was four hundred and twenty feet to the support of the roof—it was one hundred years in building. The largest of the pyramids was four hundred and eighty-one feet in height, and eight hundred and fifty-three feet on the sides. The base covered eleven acres. The stones are about sixty feet in length, and eight. It employed 350,000 men building. The labyrinth of Egypt contains three hundred chambers and twelve halls. Thebes, in Egypt, presents ruins twenty-seven miles around, contained on mats and bleached by exposure to twenty-seven miles around, contained 350,000 citizens and 400,000 slaves. The Temple of Delphos was so rich in donaions that it was plundered of $50,000, 000, and the Emperor Nero carried away from it two hundred statues. The walks of Rome were thirteen miles around.

The Marriage Service. A Hampshire incumbent recently re-ported in the Pall Mall Gazette some of the blunders he had heard made in the marriage service by that class of persons who have to pick up the words as best they can from hearing them repeated by others. He said that in his own parish it was quite the fushion for the man, when giving the ring, 'to say to the woman, "With my body I thee wash up, and with all my hurdle goods I thee and thou." He said the woman was seenerally and with all my hurdle goods I thee and thou." He said the women were generally better up in this part of the service than the men. One day, however, a bride startled him by promising, in what she supposed to be the language of # the prover book, to take her husband "to'ave and to'old from this day fortni't, for betterer hower for richerer powers in interer horse, for richerer power, in sig-gerness health, to love cherries, and to bay." What meaning this extraordinary wow conveyed to her own mind, the in-cumbent said it buffled him to conjec-

It is well known that the Chinese It is well known that the Chinese attribute toothache to the gnawing of worms, and that their dentists profess to take these worms from decayed teeth. But how they performed this trick, and so artfully conceased it in the hurry of daily business, was a secret only recently solved by a European inquirer. After some difficulty and delicate negotiation, an intelligent-looking native practitioner was induced to hand over the implements of trade together with a the implements of trade, together with a number of the worms, and to give in-structions in the method of procedure. When a patient with toothache applies for relief, if the tooth is solidly fixed in the socket, the gum is separated from it with a sharp instrument and made to bleed. During this operation the cheek is held on one side by a bamboo spatula, both ends of which are alike, and on the end held in the hand some minute worms are concealed under thin paper pasted to the spatula. When all is ready, this is adroitly turned and inserted in the mouth, and the paper becoming moistened is very easily forn with the sharp instrument used for cutting the gums; the worms mix with the saliva, and the dentist, of course picks them out with a pair of forceps. The patient having ocular demonstration that the cause of the disease has been removed, has good reason to expect relief, which in many cases would naturally follow the bleeding of the gum. When the pain returns the same operation is performed over again, and a fresh supply of worms fully accounts for the recurring trouble. These worms are manufactured in quantities to suit the trade, and they are very cleverly done; still, to carry out the delusion fully, the dentists are obliged to keep on hand a few live worms to show their patients, explaining that most of those taken from the tooth are killed either by powder which is often applied, or the process of removing them with the forceps. The practice just described, it may be added, is resorted to when the tooth is firmly set in the jaw.

Oxen—the druggist will understand that easy enough. A walk of two squares found her at the counter of the druggist, when the following dialogue took A man passes for what he is worth, Very idle is all curiosity concerning oth-er people's estimate of us, and all fear of remaining unknown is not less so. If a man knows that he can do any thing—knows he can do it better than any one else—he has a pledge of acknowledgment of that fact by all persons. The world is full of judgment days; and into every assemblage that a man enters, in every action that he attempts, he is gauged and stamped. In every troop of boys that whoop and run in each yard and square, a new comer is well and accurately weighed in the course of a few days, and stamped with his right number, as if he had undergone a formal trial of his speed and temper. A stranger comes from a distant school, with a better dress, trinkets in his pockets, with airs and pretensions. An older boy says: He is of no use, we shall find him out to-morrow." A recent dispatch to an exchange tells of a case of delirium tremens from the excessive use of tobacco. This brings out the Hon. Charles Steele, who gives an account of his own case. He says that some twenty years ago, when given to the excessive use of tobacco, he was prostrated by a well defined attack of delirium tremens, and from that time found it necessary to entirely abstain from its use. This occurred before the paralytic stroke from which he was a sufferer during the latter years of his life. He was of a highly nervous temperament, and never addicted to intemperance in drink—in fact was, I believe a tectotaler.

Curious Derivations.

"Pamphlet" is derived from the name of a Greek authoress, Pamphylia, who on piled the history of the world into three little volumes. "Punch and Judy" is a contraction from Pontius and Judas. It is a relic of the old "miracle play," in ich the actors were Pontius Pilate and Judas Iscariot. "Bigot" is from Visigotha, in which the fierce and intolerant Arianism of the Visigoth conqueror of Spain has been handed down to infamy. "Humburg" is 'from Hamburg; "a piece of Hamburg news" was in Germany a proverbial expression for false political rumors. "Ganzo" derives its name from Gazz, where it was first made.
"Tabby cat" is all unconcious that her name is derived from Atab, a famous street in Bagdad, inhabited by the manafacturers of the silken stuffs called ata i, or taffety, the wayy markings of the watered silks resembling pussy's coat. "Old Scratch" is the demon Skratti, who still survives in the superstitions of northern Europe, "Old Nick" is none other than Nikr, the dangerous water-demon of Scandinavian legend. The

It is related of him that one Thanksgiving day, just before he was killed, he came to a market man's stand and putting down $100 said: "Send chickens and turkeys for that amount to the charities." "You can't have all of this," the dealer replied; "we mean to have a hand in." The result was the poultry dealers of the market clubbed together, and the next day all the principal charities of New York received turkeys and chickens without stint. SPERMATORNICEA. -This complaint has been made a very special study by the Doctor, and having to Ireat thousands of cases of it, his knowledge of its effects and consequences is perfect and his mode of treatment successful. The suffering endured by this affection is beyond ordinary comprehension. Its effects are various, madening and destructive to both body and mind, and unless curred will terminate family. The symtoms indicating its prosence are very clear and decided, for there is continual consciousness of a slow and gradual decay of all the powers of body and mind, with loss of manly power and wigor, defective memory, loss of sight, noises in the head and care, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, preferring to be alone, general physical depression, commiste impotency, indisposition to exertion, excessive prostration, trembling of the hands and ilmés, pain in the back and chest, indigestion, loss of rest at night, with frightful dreams, dry coated tongue in the morning, with little taste in the mouth, pimples on the face, heart affections, consumption, morasmus and ultimate derangement of the mind; and any one who is thus troubled should lose no time in applying for the most scientific treatment to be had. Office hours, 9 to 12 A, M., and 1 to 8 P, M. Every letter must contain a stamp for reply.
